

Abstract

The invention relates to a method for producing a sterilisation system, especially for sterilising 5 drinking water and water for industrial use. The precious metal surface of a base material containing precious metal is initially oxidised in an acidic solution and subsequently treated in an aqueous saline solution. The invention also relates to a 10 sterilisation system and use thereof.